AN ACADEMIC HOME FOR THE BRAVE

The embracing atmosphere of the Texas A&M-San Antonio Patriots' Casa goes far beyond a "living room" environment of traditional Veteran Affairs certification offices.

- ❖ Campus home for our military community students
- ❖ 20,000 gsf. first-of-its-kind, stand-alone building
- ❖ Military Relations – a dedicated team to provide assistance and care as our students transition
- ❖ Spacious and inviting
- ❖ One-acre parade courtyard and a contemplative outdoor area
- ❖ Home to the U.S. Army's ROTC "Jaguar" Detachment
- ❖ Gallery space in which student veterans and family members can display memorabilia honoring friends and the fallen

ADDRESSING AN UNMET NEED

The Patriots' Casa has a specially designed 1,030 sq. ft. suite where veteran family counseling will take place to benefit our student service members, spouses and their children. Our own licensed counseling faculty and their students completing their Master of Arts in Counseling & Guidance focused on Marriage & Family Counseling with a Military Emphasis will provide confidential counseling for our military community students and their families, at minimal or no cost. These services will help them overcome the psycho-social stress factors and the daily anxieties commonly experienced by our military families.

This suite is a special zone on the second floor of the Patriots' Casa where our military families can re-set, re-charge, and recover together. The suite includes a family counseling room, a children's play therapy room and two private counseling rooms.

Military Relations Office

The goal for the Military Relations Office is to provide quality service to our students who have served our country, either on active duty or as a reservist, as well as their dependents (spouses and children). Our office serves as a resource that guides our students to pursue and achieve their educational goals, along with professional and vocational objectives.
